FRANCIS M'GOVERN'S ADDRESS AT RINK

Attracted Fair Sized Audience Last Evening—Preliminary Concert Given by the Band.

Francis E. McGovern, candidate for governor, deflected the issues from a progressive republican standpoint in an eloquent address at the rink last evening. The speaker was introduced to a good sized audience numbering about two hundred by Victor P. Richardson and spoke for over two hours. His address was ultra-progressive, appealing for the survival of the anti-railroad pass, an anti-railroad rate, and primary election legislation and the resolution of the man (Senator La Follette) whom he credited with having instituted the battle for popular rights in the halls of the national congress. He scored the Payne Aldrich tariff bill as an anti-progressive legislation that had been passed regardless of whether or not the schedules more than measured the difference of the cost of production in this country and abroad, and pointed to Wisconsin's $20,000,000 loss from preventable forest fires in 1909 and larger loss this year and to the potential million horsepower water-power which might make this state the workshop of the Mississippi valley in an elaborate argument for conservation. Better methods for safeguarding the lives of the workers and compensating their families for accidents and fatalities were also discussed at some length.

Whether or not a city like Janesville should have commission form of government, he declared, should be determined by Janesville people and no one else and after devoting some attention to home rule he turned his attention to county option which he seemed to regard as a senseless issue.

In this campaign, however, as only four of the eleven hold-over state senators had voted for such a bill in the last session and only six districts could possibly send men in favor of this idea to the senate in the forthcoming election, while only twenty-four of the two hundred candidates for one hundred seats in the assembly were champions of it.

The speaker then attacked the recent republican gathering in Milwaukee last June, trying to belittle the movement as much as possible and stating that it had no authority for its gathering. He however failed to mention the authority for the gathering of two hundred and fifty republicans at La Follette's home a few days ago at which time the policies to be pursued were discussed. He claimed that the great interests of the state were ready to pay money to the Wisconsin to defend the leader of what he termed the national progressive movement but failed to explain who was paying the members of congress and senators from other states who are now en tour in Wisconsin working in behalf of this same so-called leader.

Mr. McGovern's speech was a good one from the progressive point of view. He is a clever speaker, a forceful talker and he was discussing a topic in which he was vitally interested—Mr. McGovern and his own personal interests.

YULE ACKNOWLEDGES A HIGH COMPLIMENT

Kenosha Patron of Golf Appreciates Election to Life Membership in St. Louis Club.

In appreciation of the many things he has done for the game of golf in the Badger State, including the recent presentation of a costly team cup which bears his name, the board of directors of the St. Louis club, at the instance of Arthur P. Burham, recently elected W. L. Yule of Kenosha to life membership in the local association. Secretary Charles H. Gage was directed to inform Mr. Yule of the directors' action and has received a most appreciative letter, the character of which may be judged by the following excerpt:

"I never can repay to the game of golf my obligation to it for increased health and its consequent pleasures, but it is such kindly, thoughtful acts as yours that form the dividends for any efforts expended to make the game more pleasurable and that cause life to seem worth while. Such dividends are beyond value. They are priceless and your act causes one to think that after all there is a whole lot of humanity in human nature. I assure you that I shall always consider it a rare honor and pleasure to associate myself with your royal bunch of golfers as a member of your St. Louis golf club. It would be impossible for me to select more congenial companions and certainly no one could select better ones."

No Admissions.
"You admit that you sometimes make mistakes," said the intimate friend. "You are wrong," answered the eminent statesman. "I sometimes make mistakes, but I don't admit it."

BURGLAR GOT INTO GEO. M'KEY'S HOME

About Eleven O'clock Last Evening But Was Frightened Away by the Screams of the House-keeper.

By tearing the mosquito netting from an open rear window, a burglar gained an easy entrance into George M'Key's residence at 55 East street last evening, but the squeaking of a swinging door on its hinges frightened the house-keeper, who was reading in the kitchen, and she screamed and ran out the back door. While she was telephoning for the police from a neighbor's residence, the intruder evidently decided to make himself scarce as he was nowhere to be found when officers reached the scene and nothing of value was found to be missing. The incident occurred about eleven o'clock.

COFFER DAM WASHED OUT BY THE STORM

Janesville Electric Company's Plant at Fulton Damaged by Rising Waters.

The Janesville Electric Co. seems to be having no end of trouble with the Fulton power station, which was undermined and washed out a month ago. Just as they had everything cleared away, a coffer dam built and ready to lay a cement wheel pit floor twenty feet below the surface, now comes the big downpour Monday evening, riddling the dam so quickly that it broke through the race gates carrying the flood down upon the works, tearing out the coffer dam so that nearly all the previous labor and expense is lost and they must begin all over again.

LACK OF BRICK IS DELAYING THE WORK

Janesville Street Car Line Handicapped in Work of Remodeling the Line.

Chester P. Wilson, general manager of the Rockford & Interurban railway, was in the city yesterday for the purpose of examining the work on the bridge now being constructed by the city over Spring Brook. It is the intention to make this bridge substantial enough to carry the interurban cars, and the railway company has agreed to pay a portion of the cost of construction. The bridge was designed by City Engineer Kerch. James H. Cullen is superintending the work for the city of Janesville.

Mr. Wilson expressed himself as being pleased with the design of the structure and the progress of the work thereon. He was very much disappointed to learn that the work of paving South Main street had not begun. It seems the contractor was promised the brick about the 15th of this month and none has come here yet. Just what the city will do about this improvement is not known as yet. It is probable that the contractor will be permitted to pave with some other brick besides that manufactured in Galena, Ill. This is up to the common council.

At the request of the receivers of the Janesville street railway, Mr. Wilson inspected the new overhead wire work of the local street railway. He pronounced the work first-class so far as it had been done. The trolley wires were being placed in position yesterday on Washington street, and the men had about reached Rayne street. He stated that he thought the new truck would be laid on West Milwaukee street, but he was informed by the receivers that they had been unable to purchase any Springfield or Burlington paving brick. It seems there is a strike on at the yards of the vitrified brick companies. It is thought, however, that some kind of paving brick that will be accepted by the common council may be purchased and used, although the receivers desire to lay the same kind of brick that are already in the street.

Criticizes Women's Clothes.

Dr. Hing Ferguson in a lecture at the Edinburgh Royal Infirmary the other day had some severe things to say about the clothing of the adult woman. It was hampered by fashion and superfluous and nothing could be a greater tribute to the strong nerves and powerful muscles of women than the fact that their health had survived for centuries their habits of clothing. A woman's clothing was the despair of the hygienist. Children and girls were more sensibly clad, but when girls grew up they were often clothed in a way which made them unable to walk, run or breathe. "Weighty skirts, low-necked gowns, 'pneumonia blouses,' the modern hat, the high-heeled shoe with its pointed toe, were all condemned. But then women will have it so, and so it will remain.—Westminster Gazette.

Daily Thought.

We are apt to measure ourselves by our aspiration instead of our performance. But, in truth, the conduct of our lives is only the proof of the sincerity of our hearts.—George Eliot.

Labor.

If it were not for labor men could neither eat so much nor rest so peacefully nor sleep so soundly nor be so beautiful nor so useful, so strong nor so patient, so noble or so untempered.—Jeremy Taylor.

HOT FIGHT FOR GUBERNATORIAL HONORS IN GEORGIA.

State capitol at Atlanta, Ga., and Hoke Smith, who aspires to a second term in the governor's chair.

Atlanta, Ga.—One of the most interesting political contests of the coming fall will be that waged between Hoke Smith and Joe Brown for the governorship of Georgia.

In order to appreciate the significance of this duel it is necessary to go back about four years. At that time Hoke Smith mounted the reform rail, and under the impulse of a great wave of public approval, which entirely submerged the stand-patters, was hoisted high and dry into the governor's chair.

One of Hoke's first acts when he got into office was to increase his enemies and arouse a feeling of intense unpopularity in Joe Brown by boldly and unflinchingly removing the men and start in to shatter Smith's commission. Brown was pumy of stature and political aspirations. Smith, aroused couldn't very well resort to physical prowess, so what he did was to range on his side all the surviving machine men and start in to shatter Smith's commission.

THE WESTERN TRIP.

While Roosevelt is on his present western trip he will pass through Janesville from Milwaukee enroute for Prescott, which adds to the interest that Janesville people feel in the ex-President and the interest the whole country is demonstrating in the western speaking tour upon which ex-President Roosevelt has set forth. He is always an interesting man and always an entertaining speaker. The West, like all other parts of the country, has heard him repeatedly and has always received him a kindly, frequently enthusiastic, reception. Heretofore, for the most part, he has appeared before westerners in the capacity of the country's chief magistrate, a circumstance that of itself would give dignity to his presence and weight to his remarks. But in the past it has always been possible to differentiate the man from the presidency and to respect the one while doing fitting honor to the other. In the present tour it will be possible for the West to regard Theodore Roosevelt not so much as an ex-President as a public man, a distinguished citizen, one who would be entitled to a hearing though he never had held high office.

Judicious friends of Colonel Roosevelt will not expect the West to agree with him in every position he may take. They will know, too, that disagreement with him will not imply any weakening of the esteem in which he has been held for many years throughout that great section. Men's viewpoints, like other things, have changed since Colonel Roosevelt was President. There has been a quieting of popular sentiment as well as a change. At present argument is looked for rather than assertion.

The country is prosperous. Apparently, the administration of its national affairs is sane and sound. There are wide differences of opinion with regard to the tariff, but the tariff was never an issue of great moment in President Roosevelt's time. The nation is not quite prepared to begin again where Colonel Roosevelt left off. All the points he raised have not been settled, but most of them have been thrashed out and many of them are in the way of adjustment. Other points of difference between men and between parties have arisen. Whether Colonel Roosevelt shall succeed in this trip in calling the attention of the western public to the same degree as formerly will depend upon whether he shall present national questions in the light of the changes that even

In the short interval of eighteen months have taken place in public thought.

THE NEW YORK AFFAIR.

An Eastern exchange in commenting upon the political situation in New York state calls the movement "Politics That Will Not Pay." Then it deals with the recent turning down of Theodore Roosevelt as the temporary chairman of the coming republican state convention in the following manner:

"Republican organization managers in New York state are entitled to a hearing. The fair play which is demanded of them must in all justice be demanded for them. On information furnished the President he appears to be convinced that with regard to the recent selection of a temporary chairman for the state republican convention his attitude toward the political situation in the state was deliberately misrepresented. It seems, on the face of this information, that pains were taken to have it understood in the state committee that the President was favorable to the selection of Vice President Sherman for the position named; consequently, that he was opposed to the selection of ex-President Roosevelt. And it is claimed that it was due to this wrongful impression of the President's wishes in the premises that Colonel Roosevelt was rejected. 'There can be no question whatever as to how the President stood in this matter. His assurance to the effect that he was favorable to the selection of Colonel Roosevelt on every ground is hardly necessary. The most casual observer of political events will regard it as next to impossible that Mr. Taft should willfully take a step which could not fail to drive Colonel Roosevelt into the opposition camp. Where the doubt arises is in the assumption that men who have earned the right to be regarded as shrewd and able political leaders should resort to tactics that are not only disreputable but positively foolish.

"Political trickery has never been really profitable in this country, and now more than ever it stands condemned in all its forms in the eyes of conscientious men. If the so-called 'old guard' of New York state has been guilty of the offense charged in this case, the incident will mean the end of its influence. But those who are at its head are entitled to fair play, and the public will lose nothing eventually by withholding its verdict until the defense can be heard."

Fairchild stands upon an issue that should appeal to every republican voter in the state. Loyalty to the republican government as typified by the last national republican convention. It is a question of rule or ruin in Wisconsin politics today and the man opposing Fairchild and the other loyal Taft republican candidates, would do all in their power to belittle the man who stands today at the head of the republican party as its President—William Howard Taft.

When it comes to a choice for the assemblyman in the first district the plain, straightforward statement of Hon. A. C. Baker of Evansville, a former member of the assembly and a prominent citizen of that district, endorsing Whitte, should go a long way towards nominating him. Mr. Baker knows of what he speaks and he does not endorse Mr. Whitte in any language that can be misunderstood.

Candidate McGovern spoke to a Janesville audience last evening at the rink. He gave a good progressive speech, praised the men he should, but failed to hit the keynote of the present campaign, "Loyalty to the Republican Party." To the men of McGovern's type and faction "Loyalty to Republicanism" means loyalty to selfish interests with an appeal to the people to view matters from their point of observation.

Thus far no one has explained who is footing the bills for the hired orators who are telling the voters of Wisconsin that they shall vote for at the coming primaries, but the progressive element keep harping upon the fact that the money kings of the east are ready to pour their wealth into Wisconsin to defeat their chosen ruler.

Once more the city of Janesville is to have a suit on the calendar of the state railroad commission. It would seem strange to those officials if this was not the case, only it would seem stranger if the cases were brought up for a hearing. It makes good political dope but that is all.

When candidates have to resort to fifth and personal abusive attacks upon their opponents, given to the readers of the papers, under the caption, "paid advertisements," it shows their own weakness and inability for what-over office they seek.

The arrest of a Pennsylvania politician who spent more than $40,000 in securing a congressional nomination indicates that the laws of that state logically assume that it is as much of a wrong to buy votes as it is to sell them.

The alderman who has the interests of his ward at heart and watches all the work of improvement closely to see that the ward's funds and the taxpayers' money are not wasted deserves all the praise that can be given him.

Columbus grew over sixty per cent in the past ten years according to the census, and with that name as a drawback, too.

Some time a man with a good inventive mind will evolve a blunderless and non-wreckable railroad.

In thy flight! Give us some snow

A HOT DAY PARODY

Give us a blast from

the boreal shore, shaking

the windows and rattling the door! I am so weary of sitting by the shadowy shore, gape

talk about grandsons and other things

O time of the years! Give us some frost-bitten fingers and ears! Give us a blizzard, with all kinds of sleet,

give us a storm-windling storm and repeat! Auntie, who loved me in time

long ago, bring to your dear little

ROOSEVELT'S TRAIN WILL STOP HERE ON WAY TO FREEPORT

It is Possible That Ex-President May Talk From Rear Platform at Depot.

There is a possibility of Janesville people who admire former President Theodore Roosevelt being able to hear him make a short talk from the rear platform of his special train as it passes through Janesville on Thursday, Sept. 8. Colonel Roosevelt is to be the guest of the Milwaukee Press club the night before and is to speak at the trainmen's gathering at Freeport at two in the afternoon of the 8th. He will go from Milwaukee to Freeport over the North-Western, passing through Janesville at 9:10 in the morning. The idea of some of the citizens upon learning of this fact was to ask Colonel Roosevelt if he would make a short address while the train waited here.

The ex-President leaves Milwaukee at 7 a. m. on September 8, and his train will make stops at Wausau, Jefferson, Port Arthur and Janesville. It will leave Janesville at 9:10 and arrive at Rockford at 10:25, leaving ten minutes later for arrival in Freeport at 11:15.

The schedule calls for the ex-President's departure from Freeport at 2 p. m. The train will not stop in Rockford on the trip to Chicago, but ten minute stops are provided for at Belvidere and Elgin. It is scheduled to arrive in Belvidere at 2:55 p. m. and depart at 3:05.

The train will consist of the ex-President's private car "Republic," the newspapermen's car "Press," and a baggage car.

Whether Mr. Roosevelt makes a platform speech here or not, it is certain Janesville people will let him know they are aware of his presence and glad to have him with them.

MERCHANTS TO CLOSE STORES ON TUESDAY

Grocerymen's Picnic Promises to Practically Stop All Business in Janesville That Afternoon.

On Thursday next, Aug. 26, there promises to be an exodus of citizens generally to the annual picnic of the Janesville and Beloit groceryman at Yorkville. The committee of the local association this morning visited all the business houses in the city, with the exception of the saloons and restaurants, and secured promises that their respective places of business would be closed. The day promises to be a lively one starting in the morning followed by the exodus to the park where ball games, a dinner, more athletic events and the supper and dance are scheduled. It will mean that Janesville will take a half holiday at least on the great day and will join with Beloit in celebrating the annual outing of the associations of the cities.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

HAVE YOU your living to earn?
Are you earning it in the most congenial and lucrative way possible?

If you can answer "Yes" to the first question and "No" to the second, you will find it worth your while to continue reading tonight.

Otherwise perhaps not.
For this is my night to tell you of some of the less usual ways in which women are earning their bread and butter and, in some cases, make and preserve to go with it.

I have several times asked those among my readers who were earning their livelihoods, in some unusual way, to write and tell me about it, that I might pass the
interesting word along to their sisters; but I have received surprisingly few responses.

What's the matter?
Are you too busy doing, to tell me about it? If you are, please don't be. Your sisters need the stimulus and suggestion of your experience. And don't you think in gratitude for your success, you are indebted to tell them about it?

Don't say, "Maybe I will write to her sometime."
Do it now.
Raising canaries is a way in which a good many women are earning their livelihoods, in some unusual
way, to write and tell me about it, that I might pass the
interesting word along to their sisters; but I have received surprisingly few responses.

A pair of birds will give from two to seven nests
for prize winning birds in England, where there is much more interest taken in them, $50 is a common price for a bird, and as high as $250 is sometimes given for exceptional birds, but in America such prices are practically unheard of.

Great care in preparing the food and cleaning the cage and especial care at moulting time, with, of course, a knowledge of the birds' habits and needs are required for success.

A woman who learned the bird-raising business in England came to this country three years ago with six pairs of birds.

"I now have four times that number besides having sold enough to pay all expenses and our house rent," she says. "Though I haven't sold my birds here for anything like the prices we get in England, the demand has been brisk and the profit decidedly worth all the labor I gave them."

At many of the summer resorts this summer women who are tired of doing embroidery have found a new way to employ their time—learning the jewelry craft.

Most of them do it for amusement, of course. But for any one who will take it up in earnest, there is money in this craft, and much more than in fancy work.

Deft fingers, good taste and, of course, some artistic sense are the chief qualities a woman needs to fit her for this sort of work.

At Pratt Institute in New York, and in the New York Art School a jewelry class is held and is largely attended. Graduates of these and other schools would probably be willing to give lessons, or the craft might be learned from a good jewelry house.

Many students during their first three months make enough to pay for their materials. The outfit consists of the jeweler's tools, a blowpipe, a sheet-iron soldering bench, a vice bench, a work table, and an electric polishing bath.

MRS. RAYMOND ROBINS—WORKING GIRL'S CHAMPION, WHO LAUDS

TRADE UNIONS.

New York, N. Y.—Among the many women of wealth who have devoted their lives to the betterment of laboring conditions for girls, none stands higher or has accomplished more than
Mrs. Raymond Robins of Chicago.

Throughout the shirtwaist strike and the carmen's strike Mrs. Robins has been here helping, advising and doing everything within her power to make life easier for the girls who are putting up such a plucky fight. It was Mrs. Robins who spoke in the street outside Sherry's, from a stepladder, while a fashionable throng but-tried to and fro. She was speaking in the interest of girl workers.

Before her marriage she was Miss Margaret Dreier, eldest daughter of the late Theodore Dreier, who was a millionaire. Mrs. Robins was the first woman of wealth in the country to ally herself with labor unions. She became interested in settlement work, and while she was engaged in it she met Mr. Robins, who was a worker in the Northwestern university settlement and superintendent of the Municipal molding house in Chicago.

Life is so full of happiness that it is a crime not to take it as it comes.
Enjoy today. Tomorrow—who knows?
Mistakes are made as to what makes happiness. To some people it is a dream of impossible riches and impossible joys. But it is the little things that really count. To few comes the great moments. Every day and every year comes the little joys.
The laugh of a child, the love of friends, the happy hour when work is done, the moments snatched from the daily round of toil for a friendly word.

There is a woman who is situated in a most unhappy environment. With her four young children and her elderly and infirm husband who has become isolated in a far distant mountain camp. The shelter over her head, the firewood and a garden, with a cow
and a few chickens in the sun total income. She has constantly the ache at the heart of the children growing up in ignorance.
Her letters to her friends are long and pitiful wails of the hardship and deprivation of the life and the hopeless future. To read them one would think that she spent her days in weeping and her nights in prayer, but those who know her know that she loves the round of gardening with her children about her. That they have a great deal of time to read aloud and that they enjoy that more than most families. That, in short, she really has a great deal of pleasure; but that she is one of the people who only wearing one of those crowns of sorrowful memory when she writes. The life and its hardships press heavily upon her. There can be no doubt of that,
but there is no question about the happy moments being more numerous than the sorrowful ones.

Does anyone think she intended to live like that?

One charming gentlewoman who had led a life restricted by poverty
and the needs of growing children, reached maturity and grey hairs before she was ever able to gratify her desire to travel. She was then the guest of friends who took her to the ocean. She sat and looked at its wondrous changing beauty with a radiant face. Finally she turned and with the eyes of a saint, said fervently: "I've got that! No matter how old and hopeless I grow nobody can ever take that from me!"

Notice is hereby given that at a special

The application of Arthur Stockman to ment of Hugh H. Stockman late of the Town of Milton in said County, deceased.

Dated August 25, 1910.

how much better for us today and in that tomorrow when our memories are all we have left!

Happiness is not the light and fleeting thing that poets and reformers would have us believe. It is always with us if we will take it. Even in sorrow there is a happier side. Poverty is not the worst side of life.

Be cheerful and glad that you have the happy days. The small friendships and the small pleasures are just as great in their way as the big joys and passionate loves. Store them up grain by grain as the ants lay up their winter wealth.

For the joy of old age and in times of trouble is the happy memories we have gathered—and ours is the fault
if we lose the substance in reaching after the shadows.

Another Panacea.

A physician of some note has just announced another panacea for all the ills humanity is heir to. It consists simply of sunshine. It must, however, fall upon the bare skin. Among the afflictions which it is said to have cured by this means are tubercular ulcerations, skin diseases, old cuts and sores and obesity. "An abdomen triple plated with adipose tissue will melt like snow under the caresses of the sun," it is declared. "To take a sun bath," the doctor explains, "it suffices simply to stretch one's self completely unclad in the direct rays
of the sun, taking care always to protect the head, and above all the back of the neck. There must be no intermediary between the skin and the sunlight, for the chemical power of the solar rays is completely nullified
by clothing and by glass. The inclination of the rays is also important;
when they fall perpendicularly their action is much greater; oblique rays
glance, on the contrary, from the surface of the skin, and are without effect."

Hint for the Talkative.

There is much to be said for silence.
If the majority of people could be made to exercise themselves regularly in restraint of the tongue the general business of this planet would be considerably expedited.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Chicago, Ill.—The thirty-second annual national archery tournament at the Washington Park range has been pronounced one of the most successful ever held. Nearly 50 archers, represented almost every section of the country, have been present, and of these 16 competed in the women's events.

H. H. Richardson of Boston, who took third prize in the Olympic games and won first prize in the annual

English competition last year, carried off the first honors in the double American round. He also set the high mark for hitting the gold or bullseye, striking the center 15 times.

Miss L. W. Witmer carried off the women's Columbia round, with Mrs.
Sullivan second. Miss Edna Wilson, recognized as one of the crack archers
among the ladies, won much applause
by her clever work with the bow and arrow.

Eye Shows Disease.
According to Dr. W. Andersson, a Norwegian scientist, all diseases and injuries are registered on the iris,
either by color spots or lines, each organ of the body being connected up with the iris and having its representative place there. The right eye is the indicator for the right part of the body and the left eye the indicator for the left half. The new system of diagnosis is said to have been discovered by Professor Pezoly of Poland, who, in his boyhood, caught an owl and the bird's right leg was broken. The boy noticed a black stripe in its right eye. He kept the bird and found that when the fracture
was well the black line disappeared.

Tea on Wheels.
The greatest novelty of the Fete
de Neutilly, which is in full swing
now, and which stretches from the gates of Paris down to the Seine, is a novelty in roundabouts. This year,
instead of whizzing around on pigs,
on camels, rabbits, cows or motor cars—the merry horse has long been out of date on the Paris roundabouts
—Neutilly Fair provides a turning drawing room, in which tea is served in elegant surroundings. Tea on a circular tray big enough to hold the drinker and the room in which it is drunk is certainly something rather new.—Paris correspondent London Express.

You Can Be Made Well If You Will Come to the Chiropractors

Every disease known to mankind yields to Chiropractic adjustments. Chiropractic is a science of old truths, the most wonderful aid to mankind in centuries. It's a new science, that analyzes and locates unerringly
the physical cause of disease, and provides a means of adjusting or removing this cause more promptly, radically and permanently than any other method known at the present time. These may seem bold statements to make. Yet there is plenty of proof to back them up. If you are sick and suffer, J. N. Puddicombe
ing. If you have tried the medical profession and failed to be cured, come to us. Ninety-eight per cent of the people that come to the Chiropractors are made well, and this notwithstanding the fact that 75 per cent of these same people have been given up by the medical profession.
Call for an examination and advice in regard to your troubles. Even though slight, they may be nature's danger signals of serious ailments.

Doing Nothing Hard.
"By living with the Arabs, doing as they did, and moving with them in their migrations," writes Douglas Caruthers in the Geographical Journal. "I obtained an insight into their mode of life and customs. I learned how to drink coffee as the Arabs, and most difficult of all, how to sit still all day long doing nothing. I found this last most trying, more especially because it was cold. A Bedouin tent is a drafty place at the best, but in mid-winter it is almost unbearable. On two occasions there was snow on the desert. We used to feed out of a huge round dish, ten of us at a time. The fare was camel's milk and bread in the morning, and in the evening we generally had meat and rice, cooked with an enormous amount of fat. During the day we appeased our hunger by sipping strong black coffee. At night there was always a large group of men in the tent of the sheik and talk was carried on far into the night."

Gray Hair Turning Black.
Arnold Reimer, seventy-eight years old, is attracting more than ordinary interest in Portland, Ore., because after having had white hair for 40 years his shaggy locks are now turning black. Reimer has been a seafaring man for six decades. He has traveled the world over many times. Early last summer he was teased by friends for having grays spots in his white hair. He began to examine his silvery locks, and found that the dark spots were the result of a natural growth of dark hair. Now, after six months, the old man declares his youthful days are returning. Physicists are unable to account for the queer proportion of Reimer's hair and say that it is a rare case.

IMPORTANT MATTERS

WILL BE DISCUSSED

Afton Anti-Horus Thief Society Will Discuss Status of Members Who Move Outside Seven-Mile Limit.

(Special to this Gazette.)
Afton, August 25.—One important matter that will come up for settlement at the approaching annual business meeting of the Afton Anti-Horus Thief Society, will be to fix the status of members who move beyond the seven-mile limit of jurisdiction, as fixed by the constitution, and yet tender any fines or assessments due to the secretary, as usual. At the March meeting of the association a special committee, comprising U. G. Waite, G. S. Otis and J. A. Gunn was named to ascertain what laws govern this point in neighboring societies and report at the September meeting, which will be held at Brinkman's hall Tuesday evening, September 6th. Officers for the coming year will be elected at this meeting and any persons desiring to join the association can have their names presented for membership.

Success again crowned the efforts of the Modern Woodmen of Afton in the holding of their annual picnic, which took place in the Clark grove last Thursday, and a large crowd was also present at the dance held at Brinkman's hall in the evening. Features of the picnic were a ball game, tug of war, horse race, and minor athletic contests. The George S. Otis can talk nothing better than he can pick a winning baseball nine, was evidenced in the defeat administered by 12th Brinkman, the score being 11 to 2. In the free for all horse race, there were four entries, but Peter Drabahl's gray "Prince" horse, ridden by Alie Drabahl, was the winner, taking two straight heats, with an exciting, almost neck-and-neck finish in the second. If the political candidates who were present, fare the same on primary day as they did in the tug of war, they will lose out, for they were hauled over the line by their opponents after a sturdy pull. There was the usual large turnout at the picnic, many being present from Janesville and other neighboring towns.

In view of her approaching departure for California, a post card feature for Mrs. U. G. Waite was a feature of the Ladies Aid society meeting held with her last week. About 25 were present and a very enjoyable afternoon was spent.

G. E. Uehling is having his barn remodeled and made more convenient for the housing and handling of stock. Among Afton people attending the Plymouth M. E. church picnic, held in Hanna's grove last Wednesday, were Mesdames G. S. Otis, Elmer Brinkman, C. H. Antbold, Charles Nott; Miss Marie Brinkman; Messrs. Roy Antbold, Alie Drabahl, W. S. Barnhart, Orle Griffin, Ernest Antbold, Edward J. Tracy, William Skelley, Herman Holzapfel, William Griffin, Frank Kothelholm, William Milford, Lyall Soles, Leo Hunk, Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Waite.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Nemo and two daughters, of Fullerton, California, stopped over between trains last Tuesday, to call on Mrs. Pamela S. Trout and Mrs. George C. Antbold, who are relatives of Mrs. Nemo. The latter being a granddaughter of the late Reuben Antbold. The family are enroute home after an extended summer trip, which included all of the larger cities in this country and Canada and will return to California via Kansas City and Denver.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Brock, of Pullman, Ill., spent last week at the home of F. G. Codd.

Rev. O. V. Wheeler of Wauwatosa, Baptist state evangelist for Wisconsin, stopped over between trains last Monday evening, for a chat with Afton friends. He was on his way to attend the bible conference at Winona Lake, Ind.

Rev. Horace Cole, of Kansas City, was a caller at the home of his brother-in-law, Guy Holiday, last Monday. Miss Mattie L. Pettit, of Chicago, who has been visiting her cousin, Mrs. C. F. Waite, has gone to Rockton, Ill., for a visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rowe, Miss Jennie Shaw, George Shaw and Fred H. Heltcher formed an automobile party which called on Afton friends last Tuesday. Mrs. Rowe will be better remembered by Afton people as Miss Mattie Graham of Jennings, La. Mrs. Jane A. Withington, of Janesville, is spending the week with relatives here.

August Engkelt has returned from a visit with relatives at Fond du Lac and Plymouth.

CROPS DAMAGED BY THE WIND AND HAIL
Drought-breaking storm of Monday Night Did Considerable Injury To Tobacco.
A violent storm which swept over the state Monday night brought a sufficient water fall to see the tobacco crop safe's through to the harvest says the Edgerton Tobacco Reporter. But the heavy wind and accompanying drip of hail have wrought considerable damage to the standing fields. In some localities large sized tobacco plants have been whipped and prostrated to the ground, and nearly everywhere in the track of the storm some injury has been sustained. It has been a week, however, of strenuous development in the later fields which are fast assuming a satisfactory state of leaf, and about all that is needed is suitable weather to mature, and some fair sized blunder leaf is assured.
The harvest has been started in a limited way and dealers have commenced to take the growing districts, weighing close to the most promising fields and noting the condition of the crop as it goes into the scales.
There is but a moderate movement in the old leaf market as yet. We note the sale of a 2500s packing of '09 put up by S. Martin at St. Joseph to A. S. Plugg. George Hummel received a car load of '09 of growers and dealers in this market Monday. The shipments out of storage reach 715 cases from this market to all points for the week.

Don't Like Ruling.
The decision of the attorney general in the Watertown matter mentioned in this column last week, which constrains the home where tobacco is stemmed to be a factory under the meaning of the law, deserves more than a passing attention. One thing is certain if the law relating to child labor is so stringent as to prevent the employment of minors at their homes under supervision of their parents, then the law should be amended and it lays with those engaged in the tobacco trade to see that it is done. We understand at Watertown two of three hundred people are employed at their homes stemming for the Pinkerton branch located there and with the help of the minors in the families are able to earn quite respectable wages. The rule laid down by the attorney general deprives them of this privilege as well as affects other plants in the state where stemming operations are carried on. In our opinion the law should permit the employment of minors in the tobacco warehouses during the school vacation months and the present law modified to that extent. The clashing of a tobacco warehouse or a home even, as a factory seems entirely wrong and a slight change in the law would rectify the mistake. The tobacco men of the state ought to go to the next legislature asking for the proper amendments.

fighting all over the ground. "Just a little trial of strength," explained Orme.

"Trial of strength, hey?"

"Well," admitted Orme, "this man—pointing to Alcantara—"wanted something that I had. It's not a matter for the police."

"Oh, it ain't! Somebody's been hurt!" He gestured with his club toward the shadows where the three injured men were slowly coming back to their senses.

"Not seriously," said Orme.

"We'll see about that later," replied the policeman decidedly.

Orme tried to carry the affair off boldly. Every moment of delay now threatened defeat for him. "There is nothing serious," he said. "They have done me no real harm. But the young lady and I shall be obliged to you, if you will keep these Japanese here until we can get away. They attacked us, but I don't wish to make a complaint against them."

The policeman showed new interest. He glanced at Alcantara. "Japanese!" he exclaimed. "There was one slugged on the campus last night. I guess you'll have to come along with me."

"Nonsense!" protested Orme. "Just because somebody hit a Japanese over the head last night—"

"Ah, you know about that, do you?"

"No," as Orme made a movement—"stand where you are." He drew his revolver.

During this colloquy, Alcantara had edged nearer and nearer to the papers. Orme's sudden step was involuntary. It was due to the fact that he had seen Alcantara stoop swiftly and pick up the papers and thrust them into his pocket.

"Keep quiet," continued the policeman. "And you, there," he nodded toward Alcantara—"come here."

Alcantara hesitated, but the muzzle of the revolver turned toward him, and he came and stood a few feet away.

"There's something mighty funny about this," continued the policeman. "We'll just get into one of those cars and go to the station."

"This man and me?" asked Orme. He had visions of no great difficulty in satisfying the questions of the local justice, but he knew that an arrest would mean delay, perhaps of hours. And Alcantara had the papers.

Just as he was about to rush for the car he heard a sound among the trees. He wheeled and saw the dim outline of one of his enemies coming toward him. In his excitement he had forgotten that just as they could be seen by him when they were between him and the road, so he could now be seen by them. Undoubtedly he was outwitted, as they had been, against the background of the light.

The Japanese was only a few feet away. Orme threw the stone; by good luck it struck the man in the stomach, and he dropped to the ground and rolled in silent agony.

But at the same moment Orme was seized from behind, and held in a grip he could not break. Indeed, when he tried to break it, there was a sudden, killing strain on his spine. Then Alcantara's voice said, close to his ear:

"Where the papers?"

"The papers!"

Japanese character thus brought its fresh surprise to Orme. Even after this hard fight, when three of his friends lay groaning on the ground—when he had in his power the man who had injured them, who had temporarily helped himself—Alcantara's chief thought was still of the papers!

He seemed to have none of the semi-barbarian vengeance that might have been expected. He merely wished the papers—wished them the more desperately with every passing moment. The lives of his companions counted for nothing beside the papers!

"Where?" repeated Alcantara.

"I haven't them," said Orme. "You ought to know that by this time."

The answer was a torturing pressure on Orme's spine. "You tell," blazed Alcantara.

As the pressure increased Orme's suffering was so keen that his senses began to slip away. He was gliding into a state in which all consciousness centered hazily around the one sharp point of pain.

Then, suddenly, he was released. For a moment he staggered limply, but his strength surged back, and he was able to see how the situation had changed.

The girl had swung her car in closer to the edge of the grove and nearer to the struggling figures. Doubtless she had some idea of helping. But the effect of the change in the position of her car was to permit the searchlight of the other car to throw its bright beam without interruption down the road. And there, perhaps 50 feet to the southward, gleamed something white.

The girl could not see it, for her car was headed north. But Alcantara saw it, and in a flash he realized what it was. The papers lay there at the side of the road, where Orme had tossed them a moment before the two cars met.

There had been no other way to dispose of them. If the car from the north had stopped at a different angle, or if the other car had not moved, the light would not have shone upon them, and the Japanese might not have suspected where they were. Or, if Orme had tossed them a few feet farther to one side, they would have been out of the range of the light. But there they lay.

Alcantara leaped toward them. Even as he started, a figure appeared at the other side of the road and walked toward the cars. It was a man with brass buttons and policeman's helmet. He walked with authority, and he held a stout club in his hand.

"What's going on here?" he demanded.

Alcantara stopped in his tracks. To Orme, at this moment, came the memory of the girl's desire to avoid publicity. "Nothing wrong," he said. The policeman stared. "I've been watching—"

Memory Training.

If men only realized how great an asset in life is a retentive memory, they would take care to see that their children were properly trained. The simplest method consists in learning every day a few lines by heart. None of our faculties can be trained so easily as that of memory.

Russian Trophy Stolen.

Robbers recently entered the cathedral of the Petrovskaya fortress, which contains the tombs of the Russian emperors, and stole the enormous key of the Gueorguiosk fortress in Poland, which was placed as a trophy on the tomb of Constantine, the son of Paul the First.

The Watch for Hard Knocks

Steam drillers, riveters, steel constructors, quarrymen, blacksmiths, carpenters, plumbers, foundrymen, and all other hard workers and foremen need a good watch to stand the strain.

Here's one that's proof against jolt and jar; that's unharmed by heat or cold, dry or wet. A sturdy, accurate watch of neat design, which never goes back on you. The best medium priced watch we have ever built.

Elgin Watch

G. M. Wheeler Model, 18 Size

A worthy product of the famous Elgin factories. The experience of almost half a century of watchmaking is concentrated in it. Every part is rigidly made by experts from tested material, and is guaranteed against flaws of any kind.

Let one of the local jewelers show you the 17 jewels which resist wear; the compensating balance, which adjusts to changes of temperature; and the Micrometric Regulator, which can't be accidentally moved. Examine the strong main spring, and every other vital part. You'll be convinced.

The Movement alone costs $17. In Filled Gold Cases, $30 and up. In Solid Gold Cases, $50 and up.

Every man and woman ought to own an Elgin watch. There are many models, priced according to case and works, all fully guaranteed. They're sold by jewelers everywhere.

ELGIN NATIONAL WATCH CO., Elgin, Illinois.

Have You Ever Said: "I don't see how all the Magazines live?"

Undoubtedly you have. Probably you have often stood before some news stand and wondered what magazines to buy. There are a lot of magazines. Most of them are mighty good and most of them live because they are good.

But there's one magazine that not only lives but GROWS. There are fifteen or more good reasons for this in every issue. These reasons are its "unbeatable" features—the special articles obtained at enormous cost—the best fiction in the world—and its powerful, sincere editorial purpose.

The September number for example: Every feature is a big one. It is actually stuffed with big, vital news—information that you ought to have, articles that explain things, stories that every member of your family will read with intense delight. Here are some of the extra good things:

Splendid Fiction. Stories—fine ones—by Arthur Stringer, Alice Brown, Mary Heaton Vorse, George Fitch and John Fleming Wilson.

"The Tooth Tinkers"—An account by Roy L. McCardell of "Painless Parkers" and their swindles.

"The Czar of Footwear"—Startling facts—all brand new—about the Shoe Machinery Trust, by Judson C. Welliver.

"In Reno Riotous"—A great story of the Johnson-Jeffries fight, by Harris Merton Lyon, filled with personality, crowded with local color, and illustrated just right.

The magazine that not only lives but grows is the magazine that is giving to the country "Peary's Own Story," a $50,000 feature; it is the magazine that is publishing the first English translation in America of M. Rostand's world famous drama "Chantecler." It is "the Best Magazine in America" and it is called

Forty Years Ago

Jan. 26, 1870.—Jettings.—Mr. Frank Wood, while hunting yesterday, near the city, shot a blue heron, which measured five and one-half feet from tip of wings.

Authority has been given to the city school superintendent to purchase a bell for the cupola of the high school building. It is, however, limited to the neighborhood of one hundred dollars, which is hardly money enough to buy a bell of sufficient size to answer the purpose. The city can well afford to add fifty or seventy-five dollars to the sum already allowed.

The grocery store of Carlo Brothers, on West Milwaukee street, was broken into last night, and about twelve dollars in currency taken.

Montello Granite

Something new in granite monuments that is becoming very popular.

The color is a beautiful greyish red. It is a very hard stone, with a fine, even grain which makes it possible to be worked into shapes and designs different from other granite.

We have a number in our display room which are very good specimens of the granite and of the new designs possible to put into monuments made from this stone.

At your first opportunity to call we will be glad to explain every feature and detail to you. Remember, we guarantee our work from beginning to finish.
